Alaska Marketplace Work Plan

Work Plan for the Alaska Marketplace Program, Year Two

Timeframe: October 1, 2006 to September 30, 2007

Financial award: $275,000

Background:

The Alaska Marketplace, a project of the Alaska Federation of Natives (AFN), in its second year, will incorporate lessons learned from the first inaugural year, and build on the tremendous success. The first competition had an award pool of $500,000 which was invested in 22 winning business plans, and 20 more which received honorable mention. The award pool was 100% funded by private sector partners who were brought in by AFN's efforts. Technical assistance and active mentoring was in-kind valuable support from a range of partners, notably the Telecommunications Development Fund, Alaska Capital Growth, and the Alaska Manufacturing Extension Partnership.

Improvements & Growth in Year Two:

In year two of the competition, AFN will do the following:

1. Discuss continued partnership opportunities with each individual private and public sector partner (from Year 1). Develop proposals and written materials for each potential funding source, according to their requirements and timeline.
2. Expand opportunities for new classes of participation which will include: financial partnership; in-kind outreach; in-kind technical & logistical support; and in-kind mentoring.
3. Recruit and hire temporary hires and contractors, using AFN's Personnel Policies, and federal guidelines to assemble adequate manpower to competently and effectively conduct the Alaska Marketplace various components.
4. Preparation of plans for outreach to inform and encourage participation, with special attention to hard-to-reach individuals in rural villages and communities. Two sets of plans will be developed: one, which will be targeted for individuals who are "internet-connected" and the second plan, targeted for individuals who do not get information on the internet – websites or via email. In this second year of the competition, an increased focus will be to provide equal information an outreach to both situations Alaskans are in.
5. Further develop concepts and communication strategies.
6. Design and update web-based materials.
7. Design and update written materials.

8. Execute outreach plans beginning with the announcement and roll-out of the competition at the AFN Annual Convention in October, 2006.
9. Continue implementation of outreach plans conveying concepts, relevance and provide encouragement as well as details of the competition.
10. Receive and process in-coming concept papers from applicants. Handle phone calls, and respond to emails as needed.
11. Further develop the assessment process. Identify potential assessors. Contact potential assessors and obtain commitments of in-kind assistance. Organize materials and schedule for assessors to review all timely concept papers submitted in the competition. Conduct assessment process. Final preparations of end results of assessment work
12. Notify finalists and offer technical assistance for developing the concept paper into a business plan, including budget work.
13. Further develop the judging process. Identify potential judges. Contact potential judges and obtain commitments of in-kind assistance. Organize materials and schedule for judging event. Including "science fair" type event where the finalists have an opportunity to visually showcase their ideas, and make a pitch to a team of judges face-to-face.
14. Conduct the public event with finalists, and judges. Final preparations of end results of competition.
15. Individual discussions with finalists about technical assistance and mentoring needed. Monitor each finalist on their progress.
16. Set up meetings of staff and contractors involved in the second Alaska Marketplace and evaluate the experience. Write up summary of input.
17. Set up meetings with partners, both funders and in-kind partners to discuss and evaluate the experience. Write up summary of input.

Development of partnerships:

AFN will work with our partners from the first Alaska Marketplace and begin outreach to bring in additional partners. New potential partners may include: the MacArthur Foundation; the University of Alaska; the US Dept of Commerce, Economic Development Administration; the US Dept of Health & Social Services, Administration for Native Americans and others. New potential partners will come from discussions with both BP and ConocoPhillips and outreach will follow up as needed. A new type of partnership arrangement will be designed to encourage the participation of ANCSA corporation (both regional corporations and village corporations). This new type of partnership will develop based on discussions with both regional and village leadership. The goal of this partnership will be to use the Alaska Marketplace competition, and related technical assistance and mentoring to strengthen links between regions and villages. A final new partnership will be explored between the Alaska Marketplace and regional non-profit association. The goal of this partnership will be to create more synergy in on-going efforts to move from social services to a greater emphasis on entrepreneurship and social enterprises.

Development of Technical Assistance & Mentoring Support:

AFN will work with our partners on deepening the level of support provided to the individuals who apply to the Alaska Marketplace. AFN will ensure that the support is of the highest quality according to established practices as discussed with officials from the University of Alaska, and the US Department of Commerce. This is a new addition which improves the first year's efforts of the Alaska Marketplace. AFN's evaluation of the Alaska Marketplace will include special attention to this.
